CHICAGO – Hubbard Street Dance Chicago and Artistic Director Glenn Edgerton are excited to announce the main company’s 2017–18 season performances in Chicago celebrating the company’s 40 year history. Tickets to the three engagements at the Harris Theater for Music and Dance in Millennium Park located at 205 East Randolph Street, and a fourth performance at the Auditorium Theatre, located at 50 E Congress Pkwy, will be available to subscribers for renewal beginning April 13 as a Season 40 subscription; Season 40 subscriptions and single tickets will be available for purchase following the Season 39 Summer Series, June 8–11, 2017.

Says Glenn Edgerton: “Hubbard Street’s Season 40 programming expresses both looking back at what the company has accomplished over the past four decades, while also looking forward at the potential of the company for freshness and innovation.”

The Season 40 Fall Series, September 21–24, 2017 at the Harris Theater, features an immersive and interactive dance installation curated by Peter Chu and Edgerton, covering all spaces of the Harris Theater; the first performance of its kind in Hubbard Street’s four decade history. Chu, a former dancer for Canadian dance company Kidd Pivot, and Artistic Director of chuthis., has choreographed for several Chicago dance companies including Giordano Dance Chicago, as well as Hubbard Street 2.

Says Glenn Edgerton: “This program will be reinventing how dance is being seen. A performance of this kind that changes the perspective of the audiences’ experience is something I have dreamed that we would do for many years, and it is finally coming to fruition.”

Hubbard Street’s Winter Series, December 7–10, 2017 at the Harris Theater, celebrates one of today’s most current and inventive choreographers, Crystal Pite. The program features the full length duet, A Picture of You Falling, first performed as an excerpt by Hubbard Street in March 2014, and two Hubbard Street premieres; Grace Engine, and The Other You.

Says Glenn Edgerton: “Crystal Pite is a visionary and someone who I hope will continue to be part of the fabric of Hubbard Street moving forward. Her sense of creativity lends itself to progressiveness and a new way of looking at dance.”

The Spring Series, March 23–24, 2018 will mark Hubbard Street’s return to the Auditorium Theatre for the first time in 20 years. This two-night engagement, dedicated to Hubbard Street’s beloved Resident Choreographer, Alejandro Cerrudo, will feature a full evening of Cerrudo’s work weaving together both audience favorites from his past eight years as the company’s Resident Choreographer as well as exciting new work.

Hubbard Street concludes Season 40 June 7–10, 2018 at the Harris Theater, with the Summer Series featuring a full evening-length work reimagining Ohad Naharin’s Minus 16, one of his most popular and most celebrated pieces, choreographed in 1999 and first performed by Hubbard Street in 2000. The New York Times says “Since becoming the director of Batsheva in 1990, Naharin has combined pure movement and theater in pieces charged with tension and drama that nonetheless, he claims, go beyond political metaphor or any particular meaning; Naharin is instead ‘turned on by the act of composition,’ by textures, colors, rhythms.”

2017–18 season subscriptions are $120-$330 and will be available for renewal on April 13 at the Hubbard Street Ticket Office, by phone at 312-850-9744 and online at hubbardstreetdance.com/subscribe. New subscriptions and single tickets will be available for purchase following the Season 39 Summer Series June 8–11, 2017. Thursday performances begin at 7:30pm, Friday and Saturday performances begin at 8pm, and Sunday matinée performances begin at 3pm. Hubbard Street Dance Chicago’s 2017–18 domestic and international touring engagements, special projects, residencies, and additional collaborations will be announced at later dates. Programming is subject to change.

About Ohad Naharin
Ohad Naharin was born in Israel and was raised in an artistic environment - his mother taught dance and composition, and his father was a doctor of Psychology and an actor. Naharin began his training as a dancer with Batsheva Dance Company and continued his studies at Julliard. He danced for one season in the Martha Graham Company and with Maurice Bejart. Between 1980 and 1990 Naharin was active in the New York dance scene and worked with various companies. Jirí Kylián of the Nederlands Dance Theater (NDT) saw Naharin’s work, which began a long partnership between the two and NDT. In 1990 Naharin became Artistic Director of Batsheva Dance Company and created KYR, a full-length work commissioned by the Israel Festival, Jerusalem, for which he composed the music with Israeli rock group The Tractor's Revenge. KYR was a first landmark in the succession of pieces which gave birth to the "new" Batsheva – bold, sweeping, and physically sensual. Naharin’s work is also in the repertoire of Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre, Hubbard Street Dance Chicago, The Cullberg Ballet, Lyon Opera Ballet, Frankfurt Ballet, Nederlands Dans Theater, Le Ballet du Grand Theatre de Geneve, Compania Nacional de Danzade Madrid, and Opèra National de Paris.
